JSfirm.com Presents the 2026 PAMA Scholarship Winner

Mount Pleasant, Pennsylvania (April 24, 2026) - JSfirm.com proudly presents this year's PAMA Scholarship winner at Aviation Week Network's MRO Americas in Orlando to Ivan Moon. Moon was announced during the Aerospace Maintenance Council Competition on Thursday, April 23, 2026.

PAMA, in coordination with its industry partners, has made available award opportunities for current and future aviation maintenance professionals. Awards are provided to current or recent aviation maintenance students and may be used toward the purchase of tools, tuition, or other education-related expenses.

This year's PAMA Scholarship winner, Ivan Moon, a current student at Liberty University, has already achieved an Associate of Applied Science in Aviation Maintenance Technology from Eastern New Mexico University, where he graduated with Honors in the spring of 2025. His lifelong passion for aviation was sparked by his father, an aviation mechanic structural chief in the United States Navy. Moon has proudly served for 27 years in the United States Army. As he approaches retirement from the military in the next few years, his ambitions are firmly set on joining the Air Methods team.

Moon said, "This scholarship would be instrumental in helping me complete my bachelor's degree, providing the final educational pillar needed to achieve my goal of serving my community and ensuring the highest standards of safety in civilian aviation."

Abbey Hutter, Executive Director of JSfirm.com, said, "We've proudly sponsored the PAMA scholarship for many years, and each year we look forward to getting to know the recipient. Supporting these students as they prepare for careers in the aviation industry is something we truly value."
